A PRAYER

O Powers that be, make me sufficient to my own occasions. Teach me to know and observe the rules of the game. Give me to mind my own business at all times, and to lose no good opportunity of holding my tongue. Let me never lack proper pride or due sense of humor. Preserve, Oh, preserve me from growing stogy and unimaginative.

Help me not to cry for the moon or over spilled milk; to manage my physical constitution and my practical affairs discreetly, never to dramatize my spiritual discomfort. Grant me neither to proffer nor to welcome cheap praise, to distinguish sharply between sentiment and sentimentality, cleaving to the one and despising the other.

Deliver me from emotional excess. Deliver me from atrophy of the emotions. When it is appointed me to suffer, let me, so far as humanly possibly, take example from the well-bred beasts, and go away quietly to bear my sufferings by myself.

Let me not dwell in the outer whirlwind of things and events; guide me rather to central calm and grant that I may abide therein. Give me nevertheless to be always a good comrade, and to view the passing show with an eye constantly growing keener, charity broadening and deepening day by day.

Help me to win, if win I may, but—and this, O Powers, especially—if I may not win always, make me at least a good loser. Vouchsafe me not to estrange the other me at my elbow, suffer me not my primal light to wane; and grant that I may carry my cup, brimming, yet upspilled to the last amen.

A BETTER JOB

First make good on the one you have!

Learn the details of the next job and be ready when the chance comes.

Give your employer more than he pays for. Do extra work cheerfully.

Make friends for your employer's business.

Think! Think! Think!

Pick out your job—prepare for it—and you will get it.

Notify your employer when you are planning to change jobs. You hurt yourself when you leave without notice.

Never give up a position without a good and sufficient reason.

This is the day of skilled specialists. In order to compete, the ambitious employee must study continually to improve.

Proper training bridges the gap between small salaried clerical positions and executive responsibility with its enlarged income and opportunities—Bindery Talk.

WASHINGTON

*Simple and brave, his faith awoke
Ploughmen to struggle with their fate,
Armies won battles when he spoke
And out of Chaos sprang the State.*

HERE is a fine fearless, placid man, perfectly well seated in the center of his soul. On the whole his character was, in its mass perfect, in nothing bad, in few points indifferent; and it may truly be said that never did nature and fortune combine more perfectly to make a man great.

The character, the counsel, and example of Washington will guide us through the doubts and difficulties that beset us; they will guide our children and our children's children in the paths of prosperity and peace, while America shall hold her place in the family of nations.—Peterson.

NOTES OF INTEREST

Supt. R. M. Kelley was ill and confined to his home this week with the flu.

Mrs. Bertha Aven had as her club guest Sunday, Mrs. Louise Lindsey.

Phil Cato, band director, is able to walk about on crutches after being confined to his home for two weeks with an injury to his left ankle.

E. P. Myers, clerk in the administrative office, was in Fort Leavenworth, Kansas, transacting official business Tuesday.

Miss Margaret Finnerty had as her club guests Sunday Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Wilson and Mr. and Mrs. Asher H. Jackson.

Princess Attaloo, of Redlands, California, a former instructor in art at Bacone college, Muskogee, Oklahoma, visited Haskell last week.

Miss Lillian Black, formerly of Sherman Institute, Riverside, California, arrived Monday to fill the teaching position left vacant by the transfer of Miss Caroline Seymour.

Mrs. James A. Davis entertained with a bridge party Tuesday evening for the following: Mesdames Kelley, Speelman, Black, Pearson, Myers, Carmody, Jackson, Johnson, and Miss Margaret Finnerty.

Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Leon Snyder of Winfield, Kansas, announce the birth of a son, February 16, at St. Mary's hospital, Winfield, to whom they have given the name of William Pearson. Mrs. Snyder before her marriage was Gretchen Speelman.

Evon Jean Spaulding, young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. Warren Spaulding, entertained with a Valentine party for a group of her little friends last Friday evening. The guests were Marlo Jane Robinson, Joyce Carmody, Lorraine Johnson, Delores Yazza, Eloise Basom, June Bessire, Marjory Basom and Shirley Lee Meyers.

John Ise, of the economics department of the University of Kansas, spoke in chapel last Sunday evening.

The Haskell sewing club met in the home of Mrs. F. T. Renick, Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. Leila Kent Black, E. P. Myers, and Guilford Collins were in Kansas City, Missouri, last Tuesday, on government business.

Miss Spencer, Miss Morris, Mrs. Black, Mr. Lantis, and Mr. and Mrs. Hansberry had as their dinner guests at the Haskell club last Tuesday, Dr. and Mrs. F. T. Renick and Mr. and Mrs. R. L. King.

POCAHONTAS HALL

Theda Douglas, '36, remembered us with a Valentine. Effie Downing and Jimmie Ellison entertained with a supper party last Friday night after the game.

Sunday afternoon Katherine Taylor was Sarah Jane Reed's guest.

Anne and Leona Locust entertained with a birthday party for their brother, Bryan, last week.

Eunice Hadley was called home last week by the death of her aunt, Mrs. Good Fox.

Nellie Jackson enjoyed the visit of the Chilocco boxers.

The Oklahoma senior domestic science majors are making plans for summer outing through the placement office in Oklahoma City.

India Noble and Evelyn Crowe spent Saturday night with Miss Blackwolf. They were our guests for the Valentine party.

Helen Cornelius and Emma Lou Anderson had big Valentine boxes from home. There were many heart shaped boxes of candy coming through the mail, too.

Our halls are being beautifully cleaned and waxed and we are very grateful for the help of the boys in doing this difficult job.

Thelma "Chincle" Cochran is one of the girls in our hall who knows what it means to be a good citizen. She always has time to make some contribution and she is always merry.

Our garden seeds are ordered, and very soon we shall be laying out our beds for zinnias, marigolds, petunias and balsams and all of the sturdy flowers that stand the Kansas heat.

Carol Youngbird in a letter from her home in North Carolina learned of the serious illness of Miss Edna Groves, in a hospital in Asheville. Miss Groves did a fine service to Haskell Institute and her friends regret to hear of her illness.

KOLATI COTTAGE

Alice LaRoche was the guest of Beatrice O'Jibway at a family dinner last Thursday.

Saturday evening the cottage girls entertained at a buffet dinner. Valentine decorations were used. The guests were Miss Corinne Bemis, Richard Green, George Staples, Herman Bear, Frank Morrison, Harold Canfield, Johnnie Halfmoon and Charles Dushane.

The duties of the girls this week are: Willa Mae Spybuck, hostess; Alvina Teeple, head cook; Arlene McLaughlin, assistant cook; Corrine Fairbanks, waitress; Irene White, upstairs girl; and Beatrice O'Jibway, outdoor girl.—Beatrice O'Jibway.

WINONA HALL

Evelyn Tidmore has been recently called home due to the illness of her sister.

The two boys who inspected our rooms Saturday were Dowell Bowman and Bernard Gregnon.

Several boys of the masonry department have been "patching" up our building with plaster this week.

Fern Uken was one of the group who attended the Y. P. S. L. convention in Kansas City Sunday.

Last Sunday we had as our guests, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hardy of Kansas City, Missouri, who are relatives of Vera Jamison.

Several of the girls walked to and from church Friday evening to attend Lenten services. They were chaperoned by Miss O'Hara.

Last Saturday evening there was a "hot" time in Winona hall while refreshments were being served. It takes "eats" to draw the crowd.

If you have noticed something "colored" dangling from the girls' coats, don't get alarmed because it just happens to be the latest fad of the Winona hall girls to make dolls from brightly colored yarn. Send in your orders. We make them all sizes, shapes and colors.—Rachel Lavadure.

OSCEOLA HALL

Lawrence Hill and his Campus Rhythm Aces were seen boarding a car headed for the Varsity theatre last Sunday afternoon.

The inspection committee of last Saturday, Miss Dosey, Irene Slow and Gladys Hill, gave us favorable reports on most all of the rooms. Let's not disappoint the committee who comes to our building tomorrow.

The student council and its sponsors called a mass meeting last Thursday evening of the students who serve as officers of the council or within the lodges. The purpose of this meeting was to introduce some new plans for the interests of the students and faculty members. More news concerning this subject will be revealed in the future.

MOSTLY SO: It is believed that Chester Crowe moved up to the second floor according to the undersigned rental proposition between he and his former room mate, Printice Tiger. . . Kenneth "Goon" House and his "hickory" clad gang held a short meeting one day last week trying to decide on the style of head gear they should wear on special occasions. . . Practically every radio in the building was tuned in on the finals of the fistic combats which were taking place over at K. C. last Friday night.

The dance last Saturday night was under the auspices of the student council. The gym was decorated in memory of St. Valentine. During the intermission a short program was featured. A small group introduced a few steps of tango, Art Brueninger gave us his interpretation of "keeping fit by dancing," the Eddy brothers, with a violin and guitar, gave us that good ol' "chicken-in-the-hay." It was during this session that the two Chilocco students, Vincent Myers and Robert Crittenden, of the Kansas City Golden Gloves team soon to compete in Chicago, were introduced. The refreshments were served in a "help-yourself-and-take-one" style.

We extend a hearty welcome to Nathaniel Wilson, who is the latest enrollee in our building. He has enrolled in the twelfth year full-time vocational classes, and is also a member of the Dakota Swing band.

The following boys from this building witnessed the final bouts, blow by blow, over at K. C. last Friday night: Joe Summers, Pete O'Kinosh, Benedict St. Jermaine, "Tex" Jones, Spencer Fire, Luther Deere, Victor Martin, Clayton Noble, Dess Neal, Raymond Kruskie and "Spud" Meredith.—Lawistoonie.

KEOKUK HALL

Ben Naranjo journeyed to Kansas City last Friday and attended the Golden Gloves finals. Milton Kidwell also attended the finals. He sat with yours truly.

Francis Schuyler played at the Patee amateur last Wednesday night. He placed third, which is not so bad for his first time.

Troop 57 of our building under the leadership of their dear leader and scout master, Jack Culberson, were guests of Kansas university Saturday night and attended the basketball game. Brother Coffin, otherwise known as Tony, and his date also attended.

SEEN HERE AND YONDER: Luther Deere has a new nickname. He answers to the name now of second Shoulderblade. . . Pete Berger burned up the rabbit that he was cooking for Louis Williams and Bernard Gregnon. . . John Bosin traded pictures with Miss Sarah Jane. . . Many of the Keokuk red men checked out track suits and are getting in shape for the inter-building meet which is to be soon. Keokuk expects to take all first places in the meet. . . About a hundred boys and girls had a very nice time last Saturday night in our games room. We had radio, games, refreshments and a very good program put on by the Eddy brothers and Francis Schuyler. Clarence Cordry, Frank Hitchens and Francis Schuyler served the refreshments. . . We have a new trash box. Lewis Joslin and Charles Yarlotte let the other one burn up. It seems that all three of them were in the incinerator when they set the trash on fire and only two got out. . . Mrs. Stewart, our house mother, is journeying to God's country (Oklahoma to you) to visit her daughters. "Ma" Vernon Young will be in charge of our halls while she is away. Troy Crews will assist him. . . Our Round Robin tournament is gradually drawing to a close. The Flashy Eights and Greggs remain undefeated in the gold bracket. In the purple bracket the Badgers, Universals and Oilers have lost one game apiece and are tied for first place.—Frank Hitchens.

BAND AND ORCHESTRA

We were very fortunate to have Professor Wiley, director of the University of Kansas band, conduct us through our rehearsal last Friday morning.

During the past few weeks we have been holding our regular band and orchestra rehearsals in the auditorium while the band room was being painted.

This week we have been practicing mainly on overtures. Some of these are "The Chocolate Soldier," "The Golden Dragon," and "Princess of India." We are concentrating on these now so as to be able to present them in spring concerts.—M. L. H.

VOCATIONAL NEWS

Masonry: The masons are repairing plaster in Mr. Bessires' residence so that the house can receive a new coat of paint.

Pat Mackey, Dess Neal and Peter Houle are taking old plaster off in several places in rooms and also in washrooms so the painters can put on new coats of paint.

We were pleased to know that George Jones, former mason from Haskell, is in charge of IECW works at Truxton Canyon, Arizona, and is doing an excellent piece of work.

We are anxious to see it warm up so we can perform our brick work between Mr. Andersons' residence and the practice cottage steam tunnel. We also have a few uncompleted job orders on the waiting list until the weather gets warm.—Clarence McGill.

Landscape and Gardening: The discussion of pruning is being continued this week. Pruning is not only discussed but also put into practice by putting the students on the job of pruning the new and old orchard.

The job of cleaning the barn and caring for the horses was turned over to Dan Dubois, who has been doing excellent work.

Mack Keshick is now caring for the hen house as James Pruner, who has been in charge of the hen house for the first semester, is now pruning trees in the orchard with the trade-finding boys.

John Wiggins, still on the job as G-man, is making his daily trip scouting the residences of the community for left-overs for the hogs. He has Kenneth Robidoux, the youngest of the G-men, for his assistant.—A. Gonzales and A. Corn.

Plumbing: The melting of the ice and the appearance of the sun is a change much to the liking of the plumbing force. The frozen pipes have been fewer this year, up to now, than they have been for many years.

Corbin Robidoux and Sylvester Masqua changed a gas plate at the "Shack."

John Willis has finished his term again as master custodian of the disposal plant.

Kenneth House and John Willis have installed a new air line from the welder's compressor to the paint shop so that they may do a little shop spraying.

Kenneth House and Corbin Robidoux repaired a hot water line in one of the mason building apartments.

Kenneth House and Corbin Robidoux installed a thermostat and boiler covering at the Meyer's residence while John Willis and Sylvester Masqua were doing the same kind of job at the Cato residence.

Last Wednesday our instructor, Mr. Lowry, took the vocational plumbing boys to Kansas City on a visual education tour. We visited two of the plumbing supply houses and their exquisite show rooms. After lunch we visited the brass factory and enjoyed seeing how valves and things are made. Our final visit was an hour in the Power and Light Building. It was a little out of our line but while there we saw a display that was interesting to everybody.—Kenneth House.

Bakery: The previous week has been another of those seasons when some special pastry has to be made. This happened to be St. Valentine's day.

The part-time boys have been working with the full-time boys and it seems that they are making very rapid headway toward learning the methods of mixing and care of the shop.

The bakery shop come into the picture with 900 cookies which were cut out like hearts and coated with red suger. This type of cookie was new to a few of the part-time boys but to the larger group, the pastry goods was just another cookie made by the boys.

Our assignments this week have been as follows: Edward Bruner and James Sams, early birds; Earl Brown and Narcisse Benoist, pastry makers; Jacob Samuels, boss of the down stairs department; and William Washington, boss of the bread room.—John Bosin.

Electric Shop: Edward Peters and Charles Fiddler are installing a junction box in the machine shop attic. From the box individual circuits will be run to each machine. Eventually separate drive machinery will replace the overhead pulleys, gears, etc., and the shop will be neater, safer and more economical to operate.

George Ogden and Chester Crowe are installing another switch in the dietitian's office.

Lucian Jamison and Chester Ellis are continuing their work by installing a light on the two front corners of Curtis hall.

Ray Mike and Quinton Crowe rearranged switches in the boiler house pit—the job is much more neater and solid.

Wharton Bright and Clarence Hicks are rearranging the tunnel light circuit, also making it neater and more practicable.

Woodrow Wilson and LaJoie Doctor are installing a light on the cylinder press, connected a castor motor, replaced a broken motor switch and will install a bracket light on two type cabinets—all in the print shop.—Printice Tiger.

Blacksmith and Welding: We spent Friday, February 12, in Kansas City. Arriving at the Columbian Tank factory about 9 a.m., the production superintendent, Mr. Anderson, took us through the entire plant. We saw them making boats, semi-trailer tanks, high pressure tanks—in fact everything from oil cans to large oil field tanks. Everything being of welded construction. We wish to thank Mr. Anderson for three hours of his valuable time. Our next stop was at the airport where we were shown through the repair depot for the T. W. A. planes which was very instructive and interesting. From there we journeyed to the Kansas Power and Light company visiting their exhibit rooms. We ended the day by all attending the Golden Gloves fights at the Municipal auditorium. A day enjoyed and well spent by all.

Among the interesting jobs, was a large pump-casting from the power plant, which was preheated and bronze welded. Walter Suagee blistered two fingers brazing two cracks. The other two cracks were brazed by Benedict St. Jermaine without injury.

A large break in the aluminum crank case of the bus was electric welded, which was the toughest job handed to this department so far this year, and now shop.—Prentice Tiger.

Print Shop: This week O. C. Duffina completed the press work on 5500 copies of news letters entitled "Indian Education." The work was done for the Education Division of the Indian Office.

The window posters which served the purpose of advertising the Haskell-St. Benedict bouts were completed Friday afternoon.

WHAT THE BOYS HAVE BEEN DOING: Howard Windlowe printed 150 boxing score cards for the athletic office. Pemberton Doxtator printed 5000 more job tickets for the vocational office, and assisted with the press work in putting out the news letters. Ed Martin keeps himself busy with supervising the work of the trade-finders and working on the linotype. Charles Flood, Glen McGuire and Francis Wanageshik have been working on their lesson sheets and helping with work where ever their services have been needed. The window posters for the boxing match and the St. Valentine dance programs is work credited to ye reporter.—Murray Lawrence Hill.

Machine Shop and Power Plant: The machine shop boys have been equipping the shop with more machines this week. They have installed a shaper and a planer, which being motorized are a big advantage to the operators.

Solon Hill has taken Marvin Littlehoe under his wing to teach him the duties of a fireman.

Homer Folsom did a very good job in patching a pipe radiator in the maintenance department.

After being repaired by two shops the hospital vacuum pump is in use. The heavy work was done by Everett Renville and Thomas Herrick.

Sam English, Sylvester Shotley and John Whipple began to believe after two days of wet work repairing a return line from the main office, that it was swimming season in Kansas.

Lucian Gentry has now completed his miniature anvil and his anvil speaks for itself in showing Gentry's technical ability. Roy Marlowe has replaced Gentry in the shop and is beginning his try at making a miniature anvil.—Marion Miller.

Auto Shop: A recent addition to our fleet of trucks is a 1933 Chevrolet. This truck was in very good condition when received from Kansas City. The auto shop students are checking it over, making some adjustments and repairs. Cornelius Smith and Terril Collins are reconditioning the valves and the steering gear. Soon it will be sent to the transportation department for a complete paint job.

Part-time students come in the afternoon this week and assist in various branches of this work.

The 1935 Ford V8 which was in the shop for some time has been added to the transportation fleet and has made a few trial trips.

Our Mack bus is still on the operating table undergoing extensive repairs. Several students are engaged in this work—Robert Summers, Ed Wade, Victor Martin, Raymond Shawa and George Nullake.

Wallace Barnes, who burned his hand a week ago, has reported back to the shop and is assisting Thomas Mule on his overhauling job.

One of our senior students, Thomas Mule, has taken over a complete overhaul job on a Chevrolet car from outside.—Terril Collins and Victor Martin.

Cabinet Making and Carpentry: We are taking the different kinds of scraping planes and how they are sharpened as class discussion this week.

Joseph Whitney and Jack Blalock repaired two legs on a card table for Pocahonts hall.

Jack Blalock made a cabinet for Miss Benjamin for use in the girls' gym.

Albert Peltier and Ray Williams repaired two ironing boards for Winona hall. Clayton Noble is making four new ironing board tops for the same building.—

Albert Peltier made a tool cabinet for the plumbing department.—Ray Williams.

Maintenance Department: A bulletin board with glass doors has been installed in the lobby of the vocational building. It has replaced a smaller board.

Our work in the dietitians' office in Curtis hall is complete. The job has been turned over to the painters.

We are again engaged in laying the new floor in our own shop. This job is a greater problem now because we will have to move all of our machinery. It will involve a few moments of the electrician's time to disconnect our machines and connect them again.

We have just finished repairing 15 doors and locks in Osceola hall. We have also put ply-board covers on the windows and sky-lights over the vocational class room which is above our shop. This has made our class room also an educational theatre.—L. E. Jacobs.

HOMEMAKERS

Now that the junior carpenter girls are accustomed to the proper use of saws, hammers, planes and other tools more progress is being made. Many fine articles such as tooth-brush holders, picture frames, book-ends, letter-holders and what-not racks have been completed. The paints and varnishes also lend to the attractiveness of these finished pieces.

The H. I. monogram, usually finished in its true colors of purple and gold, is a very popular design used for book-ends or ornaments.—Elsie S. Hungary.

B. Y. P. U.

The B. Y. P. U. held its weekly meeting in the forum room Thursday night, February 11, with the new president, Ophelia Tillman, presiding. After singing a few hymns the following program was given by the new officers. The theme for the discussions was "Obeying God Rather than Men." Introduction by George Smith; The Beggar at the Beautiful Gate by Printice Tiger; Peter's Sermon by Evelyn Tidmore; Before the Sanhedrin by Raymond Tudor; Prayer Answered, Leona Locust; Sin of Hypocrisy, Lena Rose Vale; Obeying God Rather than Men, Ophelia Tillman.

After the meeting adjourned the officers met with Miss Macon and Rev. Thomas to select group captains. Hazel Miles and Richard Green were chosen for group 1; group 2, Toccoa Baker and Beaman York; group 3, Juanita Fargo and Vernon Young; and group 4, Anne Locust and Roy Marlow. Lena Rose Vale was chosen as chairman of music and her co-chairman is Nelson Rose.

The state B. Y. P. U. convention was held in Ottawa, Sunday, February 14. Ophelia Tillman and Hazel Miles attended the meeting as delegates from Haskell's young people group.—Leona Locust.

INDIANS LOSE ANOTHER "HEARTBREAKER"

In another one of those heart-busting and crowd-weakening scoring duels, a vastly improved Haskell Indian quintet extended a highly touted College of Emporia "5" to the limit last Friday night in the Haskell gymnasium before being nosed out 31 to 28.

From the opening whistle down to the final chirp from Gene Kemper's little tooter the Presbys, paced by Rock and Moon, and the Braves, led by J. W. Samuels and Gregnon, put on the best see-saw scoring battle seen here this year. No less brilliant in the Haskell attack was Waco R. Stewart, a Haskell speed merchant, who seems to have found his court possibilities at last.

Both teams employed a fast-breaking offense continually at an untiring blistering pace; and on the defense both teams dogged the ball in slam-bang style. The play of big Bernard Gregnon, Indian sentinel, on rebounds, and his familiar and aggressive driving in for setups was one of the many features of the game.

The big feature, a headache from the Haskell standpoint, was the last minute scoring of Robinson, substitute C. of E. forward, whose four points did the damage to Haskell's hopes for victory.

The box score:

Haskell—28	G	FT	F	C. of E.—31	G	FT	F
J. W. Samuels, f . . .	4	2	1	Rock, f	4	2	1
Stewart, f	2	1	1	Robinson, f	2	0	0

ST. BENEDICT'S DOUBLES THE SCORE

The St. Benedict's college of Atchison, Kansas, experienced little if no trouble at all in turning back Haskell's Braves 54 to 23 in a return basketball game played in Atchison Tuesday night of this week.

Their court efficiency of the previous Raven-Indian hair-raiser, and the C. of E. game, totally absent in this game, the Indians never threatened and at the start of the game failed to tally from the field for sixteen full minutes. Then Carney bucketed one to break the ice. The Ravens held a half time lead of 24 to 7.

The box score:

St. Benedict's—54	G	FT	F	Haskell—23	G	FT	F
Deutsch, f	3	1	4	J. W. Samuels, f	0	1	0
Quigley, f	3	2	3	Stewart, f	2	0	1

WILLIAMS AND JAMISON LOSE IN FINALS

The Kansas City Star's annual Golden Gloves and Tournament of Champions of 1937, starting last Monday night, February 8, in the new Municipal Auditorium, and holding sway for three nights, came to a rousing climax last Friday night, after a two-day intermission, before the largest fight crowd in the history of Kansas City. Two Haskell Braves, Ray Williams and Lucian Jamison, fighting under the Topeka, Kansas, State Journal Golden Gloves banner, survived their preliminary battle to gain a place in the final pairings.

One of the most stunning defeats suffered by a Haskell Topekan was the technical knockout of "Chet" Ellis, Haskell veteran, by Crittenden of Chilocco, in a semi-final bout. Winning with points to spare so it seemed as he went into the third round, Ellis fell prey to the Chiloccoan's wicked right which was held under cover in the opening rounds.

Williams and Jamison in order to reach the finals brushed aside highly touted opponents. Williams disposed of Troy Quinton, a former Chiloccoan with the Arkansas City team, and Terry Nolan, K. C. A. C. star, among others; while Jamison, in one of his two scraps that sent him to the finals, eliminated Virgil Fisher, Independence, Missouri, flash, of the Elk's club.

Jamison lost to Beebe Rich, annual flyweight king, for the 112-pound crown in the final pairings. Prior to the Golden Gloves Jamison had his "lights" turned out by Rich in a Haskell-K. C. A. C. team meet and at the very sight of the little Kansas City Frenchman Jamison is believed to have acquired a Beebe Rich-complex. Ringside radio commentators described Jamison's retreating antics as a "bicycle act."

Too many bouquets cannot be heaped upon Ray Williams, the Haskell boxer showing the most improvement of the season thus far, for the gallant stand he waged against his negro adversary in the 160-pound championship bout before losing the battle. And what a battle! In the first round it looked like Gordon, in the second it appeared all even, but in the third Ray let loose with everything and took but little in return. Then the decision? The crowd was quick to voice its disapproval of the outcome with the lustiest Bronx cheer, spiced with razberries, that any one of the eight finals was accorded.

In the early parings a 147-pound Haskell Topekan, Louis Williams, was outpointed by Ferman Burton, finalist in the 147-pound division.

How Haskell Indians fighting under the Topeka, Kansas, State Journal Golden Gloves colors fared in the Kansas City Star's Tournament of Champions:

118 pounds—Kenneth Scott, Topeka, won over Jordan Davis, Paseo Y. M. C. A. Decision.

126 pounds—Chester Ellis, Topeka, won over Dan Matthews, Hutchinson, Kansas. Decision.

135 pounds—Scott Begay, Topeka, won over Earl Waggoner, Chillicothe, Missouri. Knockout.

147 pounds—Louis Williams, Topeka, won over Ray McDonald, Kansas City Athletic club. Decision.

160 pounds—Ray Williams, Topeka, won over Ross Latimer, Kansas City Athletic club. Default.

112 pounds—Lucian Jamison, Topeka, won over Tuffy Coleman, Hutchinson, Kansas. Decision.

118 pounds—Kenneth Scott, Topeka, won over Bobby Rhodes, Joplin, Missouri. Decision.

126 pounds—Chester Ellis, Topeka, won over Joseph Goodwine, Conception, Missouri. Decision.

135 pounds—Scott Begay, Topeka, lost to Rusty Douthitt, Joplin, Missouri. Decision.

147 pounds—Louis Williams, Topeka, lost to Ferman Burton, Paseo Y. M. C. A. Decision.

160 pounds—Ray Williams, Topeka, won over Carl Hayes, Fort Riley, Kansas. Decision.

160 pounds—Ray Williams, Topeka, won over Troy Quinton, Arkansas City. Decision.

112 pounds—Lucian Jamison, Topeka, won over Virgil Fisher, Elk's club, Kansas City. Decision. Semi-final bout.

118 pounds—Kenneth Scott, Topeka, lost to Delmar Rowland, Elk's club, Kansas City. Decision. Semi-final bout.

ECHOES FROM THE KANSAS CITY STAR

"One hundred sixty-two amateur boxing champions competing in the Golden Gloves Tournament of Champions . . . They are the best of a field estimated at 4,000 youngsters . . . in each fight it will be champion against champion, the best of one locality against the best of another . . . The tournament lists include boys of almost every race and nationality. Indians from Chillico are on the Arkansas City team and Indians from Haskell dominate the Topeka team . . . Boys of all weights will compete, from the 112-pound midgets to the sturdy and brawny 200-pounders . . . no one is permitted more than one pound leeway . . . They will be competing for the eight berths on the team which will represent the Missouri valley territory in the National Golden Gloves in Chicago and the N. A. A. U. championships in Boston . . . Two rings have been set and the officials will see to it there are no waits between bouts . . . George (Jabber) Young, Chicago; Benny Kessler, St. Louis; Walter Bates and Harry Corbett, Kansas City, the referees . . . the city's biggest boxing show . . . onlookers agreed they got more out of the show than any of the cauliflower dancers ever gave them . . . two white-canvassed rings were always busy; if you wanted to see everything you had to have a swivel neck . . . The crowd was not afraid to show its displeasures with the referees and judges . . . The entire nation provides no finer setting for an athletic show than the Municipal auditorium . . . Kenneth Scott of Topeka and Bobby Rhodes of Joplin put on a ding-dong battle in the 118-pound class . . . The Lawrence Indian school is excited over a semi-final bout in the 126-pound class between Crittenden of Chillico and Chester Ellis of Haskell . . . Three times driven to the canvas by rights to the head and obviously out, Ellis got back on his feet, his eyes glassy, his legs wobbly. Referee Harry Corbett stepped in to stop the bout . . . One of the largest boxing crowds in the history of Kansas City, estimated in the excess of 14,000 persons, gathered in the Municipal auditorium for the Golden Gloves Tournament of Champions finale."

—Kansas City Star

SHORTS FROM LOCAL SPORTS

THE "H" CLUB: Prospective members from the football ranks are putting in the customary vending chores at all athletic events attired in the niftiest straw "sombrero," with the traditional hen plume poked therein, that the old heads can wreak out of their inventive thinkers . . . "Keep off the Grass" will not be overlooked by the club and any violator of this restriction will be too gladly escorted through the line with the assistance of a few gentle wind-mill-like swats from the club's "little switches."

Tomorrow night Coach Carmody's Braves will be gunning for that almost forgotten thing, a basketball triumph, against "Bo" Merwick's Levin's Sportsmen of Atchison. It is night unto a month since the present victory drouth hit the Haskell stockade and with those five setbacks ringing in their ears the Braves are in no mood to be fooled with. Paging Mr. Merwick please! Let's all turn out and help the Braves sack another win.

The Kansas City Golden Gloves championships team of eight is made up of four nationalities, with Lo holding his own, in two of Chilocco's aces, Crittenden and Myers. Negroes hailing from the Kansas City Paseo Y. M. C. A. dominate the team with four berths while a youth of Mexican birth, and another of French descent fill in the other two posts. These tournaments are a great melting pot of all nationalities.

JUS' POPPIN' OFF: Indians from Haskell and Chilocco were not the only tribesmen in the Star's Golden Gloves. St. Benedict's had Fred Fronkier, a Kaw Indian, from Ponca City, Oklahoma, as a representative . . . An intra-mural leaguer's definition for all the short-windedness and heaves of fellow contestants: "Too much parch corn!" . . . The Arrows bring in the stars in the personages of Francis Kappelman, last year's All-Big Six guard from Kansas; Elwyn Dees, Big Six and National shot put ace; and Joe Peterson and "Chet" Nadolski, former St. Benedict's football captains and cage stars . . . Names perceived in an intra-mural lineup: "Bright, Corn, Water" . . . The band pulled some of their pet ditties out of the bag for the C. of E. game and did a right smart job of grinding out those snappy selections.

Add two more dates to the Haskell indoor sports list. February 24 the CCC camp of Oskaloosa, Kansas, is due at Haskell for an appearance against the Haskell varsity. March 4 the CCC camp boxing representatives of Valley Falls, Kansas, will appear in the Haskell ring to take a fling at Coach Raport's up-and-coming Haskell ring men.

THE WAKARUSA VALLEY ARROWS: Last Thursday night the Arrows traveled northward to play the Fort Leavenworth, Kansas, Y. M. C. A. Post team a return game on the military reservation. The Post team fell short by five points of overtaking the Arrows after whittling down a 10-point disadvantage in the final five minutes only to have Fisher salt the game away for the Darts with a field goal and a charity flip before the end of the game to make it a final score of 37 to 32 . . . Royal Shoes of Lawrence punctured the Arrows' 12-time victory inflated balloon by administering a sound 28 to 14 thrashing to the Arrows the following night in a preliminary to the C. of E.-H. I. feature . . . Tuesday night of this week the Wakarusas gathered their forces on the local floor for battle against the Columbian Steel Tank company of Kansas City, Missouri, and when the smoke had subsided from that one the Arrows were last seen headed for the Wakarusa "lowlands" with a 23 to 22 scalp in tow. It was No. 13 for "Big Chief Wahoo" Lowry's aborigines.

NEWS OF FORMER STUDENTS

Clara J. Blackbird, commercial '28, receives the Leader at a new address, Winslow, Arizona, P. O. Box 111.

Al Ford, ex-Haskellite, is circulation manager of The CCC Stars and Stripes, Camp Panther Springs, Paynes Creek, California. Al writes in for an exchange with the Indian Leader.

From Rev. A. A. Van Sickle of Stillwell, Oklahoma, we learn that Elsie Hogner and Louise Schrimpscher, ex-Haskellites, are working at the Sequoyah school, Tahlequah, Oklahoma.

Evelyn Crowe stopped here while en route to the Fort Duschene Indian school, Fort Duschene, Utah. Evelyn has been outing in Kansas City. She will take over the duties as assistant matron at the Fort Duschene school.

Mr. Joseph Buckheart, a graduate of Haskell Institute in the class of 1927, is now employed on the new shop building. He came here from Stewart, Nevada, where he worked as a stone mason and plasterer.—Sherman Bulletin.

Thomas Jessepe, commercial '35, stopped here while on his vacation. Thomas is employed at Dulce, New Mexico. The following ex-Haskellites are also there: Bill Falleaf, Wallace Tyner, B. C. Schrock and Ernest Downing. He also states, he ventured over the border line of the U. S. and into Mexico for a visit.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

Mrs. Margaret P. Speelman has been appointed a teacher at Chilocco.—Indian Leader, February 9, 1917.

Mr. MacArthur and his dairy boys are very pleased because the Loudon company, of Fairfield, Iowa, one of the largest dealers in sanitary equipment in the world, as well as barn architects, ran an illustration in their page advertisements in Kimball's Dairy Farmer and Hoard's Dairyman recently. The latter paper has an especially wide circulation not only in the United States, but in other countries, so Haskell is getting well advertised as having one of the finest and most up-to-date dairy barns equipped by the Loudon company.—Indian Leader, February 9, 1917.

Saturday was an ideal winter day—clean, calm and not cold—the air crisp and bracing, but Sunday morning before daylight a strong wind swept down from the north accompanied by snow and all was changed. It was impossible to keep north rooms comfortable and some of the employees who live in the teachers' quarters ventured out for only one meal during the day. Before night the wind almost ceased to blow and buildings were again comfortable. The snow lasted but a short time.—Indian Leader, February 9, 1917.
