SO OSAGE LORE MAY LIVE

A band of Osages, richest of Indians, came down off their reservation today [April 30] to make sure the language of their dwindling race would not die.

Foremost was Chief Fred Lookout, dignified, blanketed, two long rolls of jet black hair hanging down over his white man's coat.

"It is good," he said in a high-pitched Osage monotone.

"Long after I and my people have passed away men may say, 'That is the voice of an Osage; that is the language of a great people who lived there before we came.'

"There are many roads for the people of the earth. There is the Osage road and the white man's road. We try to follow our road but it is dim. We could follow the road of our fathers if many things did not pull at our shirts as we pass along."

John Joseph Matthews, author who lives among his tribesmen near Pawhuska, prepared the history and folk lore which the most important members of the tribe read into the recording machine. Records are to be preserved by the American Indian Exposition here, Smithsonian Institution and Yale university.—The Kansas City Times.

NEZ PERCE LEGEND

A coyote was slowly making his way down the trail along the river. Suddenly he heard a strange noise coming from a small ravine off the trail. "Hm—mused the coyote, what's going on around here that I don't know anything about?" Presently he viewed a teepee and inside he heard a rhythmic chant, one—two—three—four, and so on up to ten; a blind worm was counting his gambling sticks. "Ah! here is where I play a trick on the mean and worthless worm," said the coyote. He quietly slipped into the snug teepee and watched the blind cruel worm in the dark of the wigwam. Silently snatching one of the sticks, he withdrew, chuckling to himself, to wait for results.

Immediately the worm sensed an "Ethiopian in the wood pile." Getting some rawhide thongs he fastened the door securely and caught up a stout cudgel. He lashed every inch of the teepee and finally landed a fatal blow on the ever evading coyote.

"Aha! You culprit," said the worm, "Thought you could pull the sheep's wool over my eyes, did you?" Dragging the mangled body of the coyote down to the river he cast him in, and the swift current of the river carried the unfortunate victim to the next rapids and there he lodged. There a magpie spied him lodged in the rapids, and he flew down and pecked the coyote's eyes, thus restoring life to the coyote. Right away the coyote said, "You Busy-Body, how dare you disturb my peaceful slumber?" The magpie told him to listen and take heed.

"The worm is no one to play with, so if you return to his lodge for revenge, steal a peg, and skip out. When he fastens the door you set fire to the lodge." Soon a wiser and happier coyote made his way to the lodge of the superworm. He repeated his former trick and skipped out. When the worm secured the door firmly from the inside, the coyote set fire to the lodge, thus putting an end to the terrible worm.—The Baccane Indian.

¶I believe that the first test of a truly great man is his humility. I do not mean by humility doubt of his power. But really great men have a curious feeling that the greatness is not in them but through them. And they see something divine in every other man, and are endlessly, foolishly, incredibly merciful.—John Ruskin.

NOTES OF INTEREST

Sunday is Mothers' Day. Remember her with presents, cards, flowers or some other act of thoughtfulness.

Miss Anna C. Dosey was a Kansas City visitor Tuesday afternoon.

Miss Belva Coates, placement officer for girls from Oklahoma, interviewed Haskell girls Tuesday. Miss Coates was accompanied by Miss Fay Webb.

Mrs. G. Warren Spaulding has been a patient at the Haskell hospital for the past two weeks and is now improving satisfactorily.

Cecil Wilson and Homer Folsom motored with Mrs. Louise Lindsay to her home at Neosho, Missouri, over the last week-end and reported an interesting trip.

There will be a band marching contest in the Haskell stadium this evening, starting at eight o'clock. This contest is a part of the music week festival program.

Miss Sibyl Malm and Miss Lillian Black had as their Sunday dinner guests at the Haskell club Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Z. Skelton, Mr. and Mrs. Asher H. Jackson and Miss Margaret Finnerty.

Mrs. Thelma Haas entertained former Pine Ridge students at a May breakfast Sunday in honor of the senior members. Those present were Margaret Pourlier, Alvina Bigcrow, Irene White, Joe Ecoffey, Paul Plume, Frank Morrison and Theodore Ghostbear. The three seniors were each presented with a red rose.

Visiting Mr. and Mrs. Fred W. Canfield is their son, Bill, and his family, and a married daughter, Mrs. Mabel Reese, all of Laguna, New Mexico. Mr. Canfield, junior, is employed as agency mechanic at Laguna and is on his way east with his family for a vacation. Mrs. Reese will spend a few weeks visiting her parents here at Haskell.

The Haskell hospital will hold open house during Campus Day, May 12. Visitors will be welcomed and escorted through the building; the hours, 10:00 a. m. to 12:00 noon.

The final meeting of the year of the Monday night card club was held this week. A pot luck supper was held in the home of Mrs. Asher H. Jackson, following which cards were played in the home of Mrs. W. T. Johnson. Guests at the final meeting were Mrs. Gordon H. Brown and Miss Josephine Hilton.

POCAHONTAS HALL

India Noble spent Sunday with Miss Blackwolf.

After her graduation this month Eleanor Lucia will take a position in the Tomah, Wisconsin, hospital.

Nettie Saunooke had a visit from her wrestling brother, Osley Saunooke, and his wife, who was Bertha Smith '35, Monday of this week. She went with Mr. and Mrs. Saunooke to Kansas City to see the match there.

Mrs. Frank A. Hardesty, of Silver Heel lodge, Merriam, Kansas, who was the first president of the Shawnee Mission historical society, called upon us last week and inspected our hall. She is planning to entertain the Indian club at the old mission next autumn.

The Episcopal students who are being graduated this year are to be the guests at breakfast Sunday morning of Father Harrison and Mrs. Harrison at the rectory. This same group of sixteen young men and women made their corporate communion at the eleven o'clock service at Trinity church Sunday morning.

KEOKUK HALL

All the boys and girls are divided up in four groups for Campus Day. The Reds are sure of several points.

Louis Williams one of our senior commercials left for Belcourt, North Dakota, last week to work in the agency there. Lots of luck to you, Louis.

Eugene Greenlee had a birthday last Saturday. He was surprised that the boys knew about it. He says he wishes they wouldn't come so often.

Richard Green, another one of our senior officers, was elected Haskell's first Campus Brave although several years ago they used to elect the most popular boy.

The senior officers chosen for next year for our building are Bernard Gregnon, Eugene Greenlee and William Sherwood. We hope they will serve the school and our building like the senior officers should.

The softball league is getting under way, but the rain is holding us back at the present time. The winners of the league will be treated to a show in town after the season. We have eight teams entered in the league. Come out and watch them play some time after school and right after supper. We will have the games behind the boys' gym.—Frank Hitchens.

WINONA HALL

Mrs. Mae Red Eagle, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Pitts, and son, from Hominy, Oklahoma, were visitors of Melessa Cody, Sunday, May 2.

Who said the girls couldn't pick dandelions? Saturday morning found the whole space behind Winona hall thronged with girls eager to thrash the pests out.

The girls are warming up for the big softball tournament by practicing every night after school. Since each team is determined to win, it would be difficult to say who's going to win the theatre party which is being given as the prize. Watch it!

"Swing it—Mr. Charlie!" would probably be an appropriate introduction to the old-time party which was held in our play-room last Saturday evening. The hostesses were Violette and Harlette Brunette, Vina Ohlerking and Rosie Brown. The famous-to-be Eddy brothers provided the good old-fashioned "turkey-in-the-straw" music for the much-experienced square-dancers. Later in the evening everyone enjoyed the little steps which Mrs. Omer and Miss Dosey showed them when they dropped in for a visit. Refreshments were served and everyone went home happy.

What we are doing in school this week: (1) The 11B home management class is working on some clever little stuffed pot-holders which are in the form of a chicken. Thanks to Mrs. King for the pattern. (2) If the rain doesn't cease soon, the weeds are going to run away with the girls' gardens. (3) The junior clothing classes have just completed their bolero suits. Rather cute, are they not? Their next project will be their prom dresses. (4) The sophomores have just served their last luncheon in the foods class. The girls say they not only enjoy the food but the practice as well.—Rachel Lavadure.

OSCEOLA HALL

Saturday's room report did not come up to the par our previous records has set. Some of the rooms were not inspected due to the track men making up lost slumber for the previous night's trip.

The boys have been scrutinizing the new attendance records on the bulletin boards this week to check their names to see if they have come up or down. The interests of these reports are in the figures which correspond to each name inscribed.

Last Saturday proved a great day for the campaigning students as well as the student body. A period of two hours was devoted to deciding on the respective candidates. The "Australian ballot" style of voting was the procedure put into practice. The retiring councillors summed up the finals to be: Campus Queen, Effie Downing; Campus Brave, Richard Green; Councillors for Winona hall, Bernice Chosa, Geneva Luton, Gladys Hill; Pocahontas hall, Ophelia Tillman, Genevieve Brown and Libby Botone; Osceola and Keokuk halls, Bernard Gregnon, Raymond Kruskie, Pemberton Doxtator, Eugene Greenlee, William Sherwood and Marion Miller. By cooperating with this group of leaders, we who are returning to Haskell next year, may look forward to another successful year.

Wednesday, May 12, 1937

Mrs. Bertha Aven, our house mother, spent last Saturday afternoon over at Topeka.

MOSTLY SO: The Prince of Mayetta (Alvin Chaney) was the outstanding or visa versa mail fan one day last week when the mail man delivered a generous number of correspondence missives addressed to him . . . There is always one day devoted to settle arguments on field and track abilities. On these days boys gather in the stadium and follow the regular schedule of a track meet with cheer leaders as well as managers. Dark horses and unattached competitors are never barred in any of these events.—Lawistoonie.

☞ GOD BLESS OUR HOME TOWN: Breathes there a town so dead that its inhabitants haven't said, "We've got the best durned place in the land?"—ATF Folio.

VOCATIONAL NEWS

Masonry: Again the masons, including the trade-finders, had a busy week hauling wheelbarrows full of concrete in a truck to northeast side of power plant from Mr. Anderson's residence. This concrete was used for footings for the long walk across the ditch.

Last Saturday the masons were preparing for this week's work, hauling sand and gravel close to Mr. Anderson's house, where the apartment is to be built.

John Jake, the part-time vocational, had quite a time chiseling the side walls along the east side of the boys' gym.—Clarence McGill.

Blacksmith and Welding: Raymond Kruskie made a needle for a sun dial, which is located north of Winona hall. He hopes it may be of use as well as ornamental. While he was at Winona he repaired a floor lamp.

Spencer Fire made two fine floor mop handles from some pipe and flat iron. The mops are in use at Winona hall.

Walter Suagee bronze welded a cast iron mixing arm for the bakery. The arm was put into operation, and worked very fine.

Joe Summers and Pete O'Kimosh made paper holders for Winona hall. They spent two days installing them.

Trade-finders made a large number of stakes with a hook on the end. They will be used to hold down a fence.

The rest of the fellows have been busy practicing welding, repairing garden tools, putting handles in shovels, sharpening sickles and jobs too numerous to mention.—Walter Suagee.

Machine Shop and Power Plant: Class room discussion was a general review over the last several chapters.

Julian Gentry spent two days in the hospital.

Homer Folsom has been giving the boilers an overhauling.

After much work on the small oil feed pumps they have been painted and put aside for emergency.

Malcolm Queton is specializing in repairing small boilers by installing a miniature fire-box on a trailer which is to be used in a parade for Campus Day.

The big Scotch marine boiler was in operation for a short time this week. The first year boys gathered around to see it in action.

Mackey Kenyon and Henry Pemma with the assistance of the trade-finders painted most of the lathes a bright red and gray which adds a new appearance to our well-equipped shop.

The trade-finders under the supervision of Marvin Littlehoe have started the annual big job of spring cleaning.—Marion Miller and Robert L. Owen.

Print Shop: Last Thursday evening we had our last folding bee for this school season, since the last issue of the education division bulletin, Indian Education, has been completed.

O. C. Duffina completed the vocational diplomas. These diplomas are printed on parchment paper which is folded in heavy Morocco cover stock with the inscription of Haskell Institute printed on the cover.

JOBS COMPLETED: The ballots used in selecting our student officers for next year, our campus brave, and May queen were completed Friday. Two hundred and twenty-five invitations for the H club party is the work of Francis Wanageshik. Another supply of job tickets were printed; there were 5000 of them made this time. Library cards, cut 3 x 5 inches and punched, were delivered Friday afternoon. Ye repoter is credited with doing presswork on the student award program.—Murray Lawrence Hill.

Painting and Decorating: Due to the rush job of refinishing the gym floor, we were unable to hold classes for this past week but soon upon the completion of the work, we will resume our review studies due to the fact that our prospective graduates have enormous stacks of lessons and formulas that they will and should review before buckling down to the task of answering the more finer and detailed questions of the exam covering our whole course that we have studied these last two years. The prospective graduates are: John Carney, Richard Pratt, Benedict Quigno, Kenneth Scott (foreman) and Theodore Ghostbear, who is a special student.

JOBS NOW IN PROGRESS: Due to wet weather, the painting of Mr. Rummage's back porch was delayed but will be completed just as soon as ol' Sol peeps through the clouds. The work at Mr. Cato's residence was delayed considerably due to the fact that it happens to be John Carney's project and he being involved in various activities was unable to work on his project steadily. The repatch work on the second floor ceiling in the maintenance building is progressing nicely under the supervision of Pete Sitting. Screens are being provided with a new coat of black paint by John Wayne Jake. The basketball court or the main floor in the boys' gym will be completed in time for the H club dance.

JOBS COMPLETED: Lawn chairs and benches were given another coat of paint by Harry Wilson. Porch swings, tables, desks, chairs and other articles were finished by Theodore Ghostbear.

We were extremely glad to hear from an ex-Haskellite, Marcelle Darling. Alton Van Arnorn, now in Dulce, New Mexico, gives his regards to all his former class-mates and his fellow painters. Marcelle Darling is residing in Los Angeles, California.—Kenneth Scott.

Landscape and Gardening: For the final test the following are being reviewed: Animal and poultry husbandry, field crops, pomology and horticulture, vegetable and landscape gardening.

To mention the field work again the boys are now busy setting the late tomatoes as the early tomatoes have already been planted. With the misty rain we are having at the present time it is considered the ideal weather to set in these late tomatoes. Reid's yellow dent corn is now being planted also. Pumpkin, squash and cucumber are the last three to be planted later on as the field is still in process of preparation for them. The planting of oats has already been completed and the drill with which the oats have been sowed is now being put away.

The big seven-foot lawn mower is steadily operating in cutting the grass on the campus in order to keep the campus in attractive condition. The operation of this machine is being done by Dan Dubois. Aiding the big machine are the hand-drawn mowers and grass-whips being handled by part-timers and trade-finders who are sent out to do the work daily during the week days. There are several flower seeds such as zinnias, larkspur, marigold, sweet william, plants of holleyhocks, salvia Petunias and major Vinea have been planted and are the new additions to beautify the campus.—Alcario Gonzales.

Maintenance Department: We have completed jobs of various types this week.

We have repaired linoleum in the kitchen of Dr. Renick's residence.

At Winona hall we have made new screens and repaired old ones for the basement windows.

We are at present engaged in repairing the ceiling in the machine shop.

Screens for the protection of glass are being made for the windows of Troop I armory.

We tightened the hinges on all steel casement windows in Pocahontas hall. A rear door in the same building was also repaired.

The roofs of the boys' gym, brooder house, mason building, and the maintenance building have all been repaired.

The floor and ceiling in the bath room of the hospital are now being replaced, after being removed for new plumbing fixtures.

In the hospital we have replaced old and broken sash cords. We have repaired and made some new screens for the front porch. They have also been installed.

In our class during the past month, we have been working on a miniature model of a roof of a frame house. The model, now complete, shows the various types of roofs with different pitches. The project has given us some very valuable experience. It has given us some important facts that every carpenter must know before he can frame a roof.—Lawrence Jacobs.

Cabinet Making and Carpentry: Our class work this week has covered mostly the cutting of mortise and tenon joints. We have demonstrated the joints on the door of a cabinet being repaired for Miss Myers.

Screens are also being repaired for the forum room.

Albert Bunch and Leroy Taylor made two boxes for horse shoe pits, a job for the athletic department.

Mose Teplew made two desk boxes for Mr. Welfelt, instructor of the electrical department.

Roy Wanstall and Ray Williams are busy putting on hooks and latches on screen windows and also repairing the screens for the lower dining room.

Boxes are being made on which to tack streamers for fans that will be used for the H club dance.—Ray Williams.

Bakery: On April 28 the senior class from the bakery were taken to Kansas City for an all-day exploratory trip.

The visit was to some wholesale houses, oven factory, Noggles supply house, Loose-Wiles cracker, cookie and candy plant, and Standard plant.

The trip was very interesting and educational especially the Loose-Wiles plant, which was very large.

Those who were fortunate in making the trip were Narcisse Benoist, Earl Brown, James Sams, Jacob Samuels and John Bosin.

Our usual assignments this week puts Narcisse Benoist and James Sams as early mixers; Jacob Samuels and Lloyd Yellowhorse as pastry mixers; Earl Brown as foreman of the baking department; and Floyd Skenandore as bread cutter and store room attendant.—John Bosin.

Auto Shop: Clarence Stone and Alvin Chaney have the caterpillar just about ready to go. They have stopped work on the "cat" for a day or two while they do some work on the compressor that is being built in the welding shop. The boys are glad to have a part in the building of this compressor. Alvin Chaney and Clarence Stone are saying that they are surely going to have the big five-ton cat in the Campus Day parade. We will give them the big hand if they do.

Robert Carney and a part-time helper is actively engaged this week in doing complete lubrication jobs on all cars and trucks. Winter grease has to be drained out and replaced with summer grade greases and oils.

Robert Summers and Ben Shoemaker drew the assignment of checking over the 1936 Ford V8. This included replacing the generator bearings and a complete tune up of the motor.

We are having special lessons in lubrication this week. Our modern cars take five or six different kinds of lubricants and the different makes of cars have their special requirements. Good careful lubrication their special requirements. Careful lubrication saves wear on machinery and repair bills.

Jerome White Feather, Raymond Eddy and Joe Berger are doing some work on a White truck motor. They are trying to locate some noisy knocks. Knock, knock doesn't indicate a welcome visitor to an automobile.—J. W. White Feather.

HASKELL, 66; WASHBURN, 47

The Haskell track team experienced little trouble in turning back the Washburn Ichabods, 66 to 47, in the Haskell stadium, Wednesday afternoon. The Indian track triumph squared up the Haskell win and loss column at four all.

Coch Carmodys' aborigines, presenting a better-conditioned team than the big Blue, made it a walk-away in the half mile run and the high jump besides scoring heavy in the mile, high hurdles, broad jump and javelin, to mount their score out of the visitor's reach.

Brown of Washburn won three firsts and a second to accumulate eighteen points for high point honors of the thirteen-event meet. Sidney "Bullneck" Stone led the Indian scoring department with eight points.

NO WICHITA "BIG GAME" FOR BRAVES

The Southwest A. A. U. boxing championships at Wichita, Kansas, last week, April 26-27-28, were decided after three days of heated scrapping. Haskell's four hopefuls returned to the reservation minus the "groceries."

Mack Keshick, state welterweight king, was put out of the running the first night by Webb, after a close decision—a mild surprise to campus fans. Ellis met his jinx, in Newton's Smith, who again duplicated his Salina victory over "Chet" in the finals. The decision met much disapproval from the fans.

Ira Issues engaged in two fights before he bowed out of the picture to "Chief" Smith of Fort Riley. Ray Williams, Haskell's one big hope, dropped a hairline decision to "Red" Hall of Fort Riley in the finals.

135 pounds—Ira Issues, Haskell, won over Everett Ogle, Chanute, Kansas. Knockout.

135 pounds—Ira Issues, Haskell, won over Bud Bailey, Newton, Kansas. Decision.

KESHICK SURVIVES KANSAS A. A. U. MEET

Mack Keshick was the lone Haskell Institute survivor of the Kansas State A. A. U. boxing championships staged in Salina, Kansas, on April 21-22-23. He won the state Class A welterweight crown by flattening Billy Anderson of Dighton, Kansas, in three rounds.

Chester Ellis advanced to the finals by virtue of a knockout and a decision over Kaiser and Cavens of Manhattan, respectively. In the finals Ellis lost a close decision to Smith of Newton.

The other Haskell entrees, Dushane, Issues, Pushetonequa and Miller, went out by way of knockouts and decisions.

SHORTS FROM LOCAL SPORTS

Jus' POPPIN' OFF: Haskell boxers to Wichita last week were quartered in the Hotel Classen—the "class" of Wichita hotels. . . Leonard Frazier, assistant boys' adviser and a former Haskell middle distance runner, took in the Fort Scott track meet. . . The Chester Ellis-Ray Williams "apartment" in Osceola hall goes in for souvenir "wall-drapings" in a big way, from the boxing angle. Only one or two bare spots on the wall remain uncovered from ring prizes, clippings, programs, and what not. . . With the Haskell Mack bus ailing again the Fort Scott trip was made in several cars.

WHERE'S THOSE WILDCATS?: Over in them thar hills the Haskell Indians are on a Wildcat chase this afternoon on the premises of Baker university, Baldwin, Kansas, in hopes of bagging a triumph over the Baker Orange. Until recently the Haskell-Baker meet was being looked to as a close battle for points. However since the loss of Clarence Chicks and Louis Williams to the Indian track squad hopes for victory are at a low ebb on the reservation.

Osley "Man Mountain" Saunooke, Haskell student in 1924-25, now an active professional wrestler weighing in at a mere 350 pounds, with headquarters at the Maryland hotel, St. Louis, Missouri, was on the campus Monday visiting his sister, Nettie, and friends prior to his match with Martin Levy, Boston, Massachusetts, 650 pounds, "the world's worst rassler," the same night in a Kansas City ring. . . Remarks by the "Man Mountain": "Louis 'Sun' Jennings [a member of the undefeated 1926 Haskell football team] is doing all right in pro wrestling and now tips the scales at 260." . . "Sun' Jennings and I called 'Chief' Little Wolf, so-called part-Navaho Indian, on his self-styled stay at Haskell, and found him to be an imposter." . . "Tiny' Roebuck [gigantic Haskell tackle under 'Dick' Hanley] is wrestling out on the west coast."

Midland college, Fremont, Nebraska, alma mater of John F. Carmody, Haskell coach, and Southwestern college of Winfield, Kansas, Central conference member, have been added to the 1937 Haskell grid card which already includes Ottawa, Columbia (Iowa), Kansas Wesleyan, Omaha, Baker, McPherson and Missouri Valley. Midland faced Haskell elevens in 1924 and 1925.

A Haskell baseball team, composed of the Institute's best baseball prospects, will get a taste of some big time college play when they go into action against Rockhurst college next Friday, May 14, in Kansas City, Missouri. Rockhurst will appear here on May 22 for an exhibition. Rockhurst holds victories over Kansas, Missouri Valley college and strong independent teams of Greater Kansas City. Pat Mason is the coach.

THE H CLUB: Tomorrow night in Tecumseh hall club members and their guests will celebrate the annual lettermen's ball—one of the crowning events on the student social calendar. . . . An outside orchestra, employing the modern swing tempo, will be on the stand to entertain. . . . The club shuffle will dedicate the newly refinished floor of the hall—a project of the interior decorators. . . . Next on tap for the club is the sponsoring of their big outdoor fiesta (initiation) next Saturday night out at Brown's Grove.

Haskell campus day contests and stunts will be run off in two divisions, Class A and B for boys and girls. Class A for boys takes in the 135 pound group and over. In the Class B ranks the 134 pound group and under will battle it out. For the girls 120 pounds and over covers Class A while 120 pounds and under covers Class B. The boys will run in their special events and the girls will do likewise. Mixed events will take in boys and girls. Varsity track lettermen are barred.

SPACE FILLERS: Floyd "Red" Hall, conqueror of Ray Williams in the Wichita finals, was boxing 'way back when some of the present Haskell pugs were still papoosing it back on their reservations. . . . "C. W. Ridgeway, Leavenworth, Kansas, high school football coach, was appointed track coach at Baker university. He will succeed George 'Pop' Bretnall, who goes to Iowa State college."

BAND AND ORCHESTRA

MUSIC WEEK: The Haskell band members were invited to participate with other musical organizations at the music festival, Thursday, Friday and Saturday. Thursday afternoon beginning at 3:30, and Friday morning at 9:30, the time was devoted to rehearsing with the mass band at the university auditorium. Friday afternoon we entered the grand parade with the other musical units, and in the evening acted as hosts to the bands in the Haskell stadium during the marching contests. We who played in the mass band concert Saturday night considered it an honor, especially being able to play under the direction of Harold Bachman, A. A. Harding, A. R. McAllister and other prominent directors and musicians.

SABETHA RESULTS: The trip was enjoyed by all. . . . We always seem to pick out rainy weather to do our parading. . . . We arrived back at Haskell at 7:00 p. m. with everyone being somewhat tired after a day of riding and parading around in the rain.

CONCERT ORCHESTRA: Mr. Cato stated that after this week we are going to have plenty of busy nights. We have been giving the band a break these last two weeks.

PERSONALS: The little German band made a favorable impression at the gala night a couple of weeks back. . . . Pemberton Doxtator, thinking of that mile run proceeding the Sabetha trip, was somewhat ill on the bus, until after dinner. . . . (Just hungry). . . . Tickets were given to the orchestra girls (Nellie Cosgrove, Alice LaRoche, Toccoa Baker, Jimmy Ellison and Goldie Isaac) to attend the festival along with the band. . . . Spying on Glen McGuire and Thomas Herrick in Sabetha was the talk of the trip. Glen paid Thomas hush money so he won't talk.—M. L. H.

HASKELL LIBRARY

The May issues of the current magazines are now in their covers and many students are already finding much interesting material in them.

A new feature in the magazine realm is the combination of the Delineator and the Pictorial Review into one large volume. In this first issue of the combined magazine are found many interesting short stories, special articles, and one complete book-length novel, "One is Beloved," by Louise Platt Hauch.

In the May issue of McCall's there is a "movie guide" that will be of special interest to the movie fans. The cover of this magazine carries a portrait of Amelia Earhart which is very attractive.

The second installment of Mrs. Roosevelt's autobiography, "This Is My Story" appears in the Ladies Home Journal.

"Seven Proud Women," a story of the seven women who lived to see their sons become presidents of the United States, is found in Good Housekeeping.

Many interesting features are to be found in the National Geographic magazine. Of particular interest at this time is the article "Along London's Coronation Route" with twenty-two illustrations.

Popular Science and Popular Mechanics have much that will be of interest to the mechanically inclined readers.

A few days ago the library received copies of the 81st annual report of the Thomas Indian school of Iroquois, New York. Haskell students from the state of New York may be interested to find this report in our library.

The spring issue of Chronicles of Oklahoma, a publication issued quarterly by the Oklahoma historical society, has much interesting information about the early history of that state. Such articles as "How the Cherokees Acquired the Outlet," "Early Life Among the Five Civilized Tribes," "The Origin of the Seminole Indians" and others should be of interest to many Haskell students.

Reader's Digest offers a wide range of reading material from "Accent on Youth" to "Crashing the Capital." A hasty glance over the contents of this magazine may suggest other interesting digests that you will not want to miss reading.

The library has received recently two books of poems, "Grains of Time" and "Twenty-three Grains of Time" autographed gift copies from the author, John Augustus K. Eveningstar of Washington, D. C. A wide range of titles and dedications appear among these poems and the collections offer much interesting reading for those who enjoy poetry.—Wanda Gray, reporter.

Ⓒ Campus Day will be celebrated at Haskell Wednesday, May 12. Highlights of the day will be a parade, a coronation and a barbecue supper.

AN OLD-FASHIONED MOTHER

*What does it matter how queer she may look,
In clothes that are fashioned of old?
Beneath all our finery I doubt if there beats
